Didsbury Horses Win at Calgary.

J. W. Fulkerth and Sons took a car-load of horses to the Calgary Horse Show last week and were successful in winning several prizes. "Peggy," the "Flying Grey Streak" as the Calgary Herald named her, made her debut on Thursday evening in the Performance Jump and was ridden by Glen Fulkerth. This jump called for circling the arena twice and jumping over four sets of hurdles and ended down the center by jumping a brick wall, and Glen, despite his 140 lbs. brought her through beautifully, winning the first prize of $25.00. The same little 14.2 pony won the first prize of $50.00, clearing the timbers at 5ft. 6in. The pony was attended by E. Knott.

The Fulkerth entries created quite a sensation on Saturday night when they brought in three Thoroughbred five gaited horses—"The Dare," 10513, a picture stallion, ridden by the owner, "Miss Maypole," ridden by Walter Fulkerth and "Ruby Fan," ridden by Glen Fulkerth. Each horse gave a separate performance and when lined up, Judge Gledland awarded the 1st to the stallion, 2nd to "Miss Maypole" and 3rd to "Ruby Fan."

The stallion drew the plaudits of the crowd when he knelt down with the rider in the saddle. Much favorable comment was made on the beauty of these horses and the attendants were kept busy showing the horses to visitors at the stables.

A foal exhibited by Mr. Ira Levagood and sired by "The Dare" was pronounced by prominent horse-men, a wonderful prospect.

Messrs. Berscht and Rieder returned home the first of the week from the Calgary Horse Show with four first prizes, with their Welsh ponies, Brae Don, 1st in the Welsh stallion class and 1st as a single driver, Lady Bell and Brae Don, 1st team of ponies class and Lady Bell, 1st in the saddle event.

Valuable Jersey Bull for Didsbury.

Norman Clarke has recently purchased Sultans Oxford, a pure-bred Jersey bull from the herd of David Spenser at Vancouver. This bull was Junior Champion at five major fairs in British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba during the last season. His dam holds an R.O.P. record of 492 pounds of fat in 10 months at three years of age. She has six grand championships to her credit. The dam of his sire was an imported cow holding an R.O.P. of 512 pounds of fat at two years of age, she is also the holder of four grand championships.

From a point of view of both production and type, this young animal has not been equalled up to the present time by any other in Western Canada. There has recently been a great increase in interest in the Jersey breed in Alberta. They are found to be the best adapted to Alberta conditions and the most economical producers of butterfat.

Burns Co. Limited through their extension department have, during the last two weeks brought in a car-load of bulls for use among their creamery districts. These animals are said to be outstanding and already they are creating a demand for pure-bred Jersey heifers.

Changes Made in Didsbury Riding.

The redistribution bill which was passed by the legislature has made some important changes in the Didsbury constituency. The town of Drumheller has been taken out of this riding and will have its own member. The three townships around Harnattan and Westcott have been added to Olds district, thus making the north boundary of the constituency the line between townships 31 and 32 from the Red Deer river east to the same river west. The four townships south of Carstairs, township 29 and ranges 28 and 29 west of the 4th M and townships 1 and 2 west of the 5th M have been taken from Didsbury constituency and added to Cochrane.

It is expected that an election will be held in June or July but up to the present the premier has declined to make any statement.

The Olds School of Agriculture, through the Experimental Union, is distributing seeds and plants under certain regulations and a membership fee of 50 cents. Wheat, oats, barley, rye, peas and potatoes for seedling are each distributed in 4-lb. lots and other seeds in ounces, such as alfalfa, cabbage, timothy, western rye, turnips, beans, etc. Among the plants there are raspberries, red and black currants, caraganas and perennials in an assortment of 12 roots. No order blank will be accented after April 15th. Order blank will accompany each shipment and must be filled in and returned at the end of the growing season.

Reform Of The Calendar

The subject of reform of our present calendar is receiving increasing attention throughout the world. What was once regarded as more or less of a faddist's idea is now seriously regarded by hard-headed business men and Governments as a meritorious suggestion. As a result, the proposal has reached the stage where the League of Nations has set up a commission to deal with the question, and Governments the world over have appointed influential committees to study the merits of the various schemes proposed. So convinced are many large business corporations of the advantages of a thirteen-month calendar that they have adopted it, temporarily at least, as the basis for their internal accounting and statistical comparisons.

Hundreds of different plans were submitted to the League of Nations commission. These have been narrowed down to two or three for submission to the Governments of the world for consideration. The plan which seems to find the larger measure of approval, and has already been endorsed by the United States national committee, is the work of a Canadian, Mr. E. Cotsworth, of Vancouver. Briefly, the plan is to divide the year into thirteen months of twenty-eight days each; to have each week, each month, and each year begin on the same day; to have a new month, "Sol," come between June and July. This provides for 364 days, and it is proposed that the extra day be taken care of by including a holiday, to be known as "Year Day," between Saturday, December 28, and Sunday, January 1.

In the proposed calendar, each of the thirteen months would be uniform, as follows:

Sunday	Monday	Tuesday	Wednesday	Thursday	Friday	Saturday
1	2	3	4	5	6	7
8	9	10	11	12	13	14
15	16	17	18	19	20	21
22	23	24	25	26	27	28

Among the advantages claimed for this simplified calendar are, from a business point of view, that it will allow of definite and accurate comparisons between one year and another, and between the months, weeks, and even days of one year and those of another, that it will simplify the computation of interest, each month being the same length, and it will also simplify other business calculations, payrolls, for example.

All holidays will fall on the same day each year. So will a person's birthday, or wedding anniversary. Christmas would always be on a Wednesday. "Year Day" would be a holiday between the old year and the new, and the new year would always begin, appropriately, we feel, on a Sunday.

Opposition to the proposed change comes chiefly from the churches and religious organizations, notwithstanding the historical fact that our present calendar was a change from previous calendars sanctioned by the head of a religious organization. The churches do not wish to have their feast-days, fast-days, and holy-days disturbed, even though now they are irregular and as varying as other days in our present calendar.

Our present calendar is the outgrowth of centuries of disputes and jealousies. It is as illogical as were these old differences. For example, the only reason February has only 28 days, as compared with 30 and 31 in the other months, is the jealousy of one Roman Emperor of another because the month named after the former had one day less than the month named after the latter, so he took a day from February and added it to month named after himself, thus giving it the same number of days as the month named after his rival.

The Bible records that the Creator made the world in six days and rested on the seventh, or Sabbath day, and in the Ten Commandments we are enjoined to "Remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy." In later centuries, a church ordered that the first day of the week and not the seventh should be observed as the holy day, hence our present Sunday. But Jews and Seventh Day Adventists adhere to the seventh day. Christmas day was a matter of bitter dispute among the churches for nearly 2,000 years before December 25 was finally accepted. But it is not so recognized in some countries even yet. The new year begins at varying times in Russia and China, as compared with other countries.

The fact is, and in consideration of the present subject of reform it should not be overlooked, that the calendar is wholly man-made. There is nothing sacred about it, just a convenience in the regulation of our everyday affairs. That it should add to its convenience if it were more uniform and logical goes without saying.

Reduce the Acid

Sick stomachs, sour stomachs and indigestion usually mean excess acid. The stomach nerves are over-stimulated. Too much acid makes the stomach and intestines sour.

Alkali kills acid instantly. The best form is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia, because one harmless, tasteless dose neutralizes many times its volume in acid. Since its invention, 50 years ago, it has remained the standard with physicians everywhere.

Take a spoonful in water and your unhappy condition will probably end in five minutes. Then you will always know what to do. Crude and harmful methods will never appeal to you. Go prove this for your own sake. It may save a great many disagreeable hours. Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. Each bottle contains full directions—any drugstore.

Germany's Tribute To Late Foreign Minister

Name Of Historic Street Is Changed
To Stresemann

The name of a great German military victory has been erased from the street map of Berlin to make room for a tribute to the memory of a peacemaker of modern Germany—the late Foreign Minister, Dr. Gustav Stresemann.

Königsgratzer Street, which for more than half a century has reminded Germans of the defeat of Austria in the battle of Königsgratz, has been changed by official decree to Stresemann Street.

The thoroughfare is familiar to many travellers as the street on which two of Berlin's principal railway stations face.

SUFFERED FOR YEARS FROM RHEUMATISM

Regained Health Through the Use Of Dr. Williams'
Pink Pills

Rheumatism is a disorder of the blood—caused by too much uric acid in the blood—and must be treated through the blood. It attacks its victims when vitality is low, thus setting up inflammation in the muscles and joints. Wet and cold weather may start the tortures of rheumatism but it is not the cause. The cause is the blood—bad blood. Enrich and purify the blood and rheumatism will disappear. If you are a sufferer from this painful malady begin the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and see how soon the pains and stiffness will disappear. These pills enrich and purify the blood and good blood means good health.

Mrs. John C. McPherson, St. Mary's, Ont., was a victim of rheumatism for years and writes as follows of her illness and recovery. She says:—"I suffered from rheumatism for nearly sixteen years and for eleven years I was unable to walk. I tried a number of medicines as well as massage and chiropractic treatment without any permanent benefit. I was then so bad that I was at a loss to know what to try next. I noticed in different papers how strongly Dr. Williams' Pink Pills were recommended for cases like mine so I decided to try them. After taking several boxes I noticed that my appetite was improving. The pains became less severe and my color improved. I continued their use and now I am able to do light housework. I wish I could impress on all rheumatic sufferers just what these wonderful pills have done for me."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills do one thing but they do it well—they enrich and purify the blood. This rich red blood banishes such troubles as rheumatism, sciatica, neuralgia and neuritis and leaves the former sufferer robust and healthy and well able to take his or her place in doing the duties expected of them. The pills are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Wage War Against Cancer

Province Of Saskatchewan Taking
The Lead In Combatting Scourge

With Saskatchewan about to take the lead in all Canada in the fight being waged against cancer, setting up two main clinics, one in Regina and one in Saskatoon, and purchasing radium to the value of $120,000, just a few statistics on the disease may be of interest.

In Saskatchewan cancer ranks fourth in the list of diseases that cause the most deaths. Tuberculosis, once far up in the list, is now far down and Saskatchewan is credited with having the lowest mortality rate from tuberculosis of any part of America.

The leader as the cause of deaths is heart disease. Still births came second. Pneumonia ranks third and cancer fourth. The fifth on the list is accidents at birth and accidental deaths of all kinds are placed sixth.

For Both House and Stable.—There is a good deal of similarity, physically speaking, between human beings and the lower animals. Both are subject to many ailments arising from inflammation and to all manner of cuts and bruises. Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil is an entirely reliable remedy for such ailments and mishaps in both human beings and the lower orders of animals.

The Chinese peanut crop, which now exceeds the American production, had its beginning in four quarts of American peanuts taken to China about forty years ago by a missionary.

Activity In Land Sales

Land and Townsite Department Of the C.N.R. Reports Satisfactory
Year

Satisfactory reports concerning last year's business were submitted at the annual meeting of field men and other representatives of the Land and Townsite Department of the Canadian National Railways, and which was presided over by Mr. E. A. Field, Land Commissioner. Representatives were present from the three prairie provinces.

Land sales last year, in spite of prevailing conditions, were reported to be fairly good in comparison with previous years and due payments, both capital and interest, were well met on the whole, so that there was reason to be well pleased with the general situation.

The majority of those who bought land were resident farmers who were extending their operations or making provision for their sons.

Last year ten new townsites were opened, principally in Central Saskatchewan, and thirty-one others have been surveyed and will be opened during the current year. The building of new lines has attracted numerous farm settlers and a large amount of new land is being brought under cultivation.

Lodger (excitedly): "Just think, Mrs. Miggs—in 12 short months from now she'll be mine."

Landlady: "Who, Mr. Smith? I didn't know you 'ad a young lady."

Lodger: "No, no—my two seater!"

Miller's Worm Powders act so thoroughly that stomachic and intestinal worms pass from the child without being noticed and without inconvenience to the sufferer. They are painless and perfect in action, and at all times will be found a healthy medicine, strengthening the infantile stomach and maintaining it in vigorous operation, so that, besides being an effective vermifuge, they are tonic and health-giving in their effects.

A Doubtful Apology

A youth from the city was walking across a country field when an enraged bull rushed at him and tossed him over the fence.

Painfully picking himself up, the young man looked through the fence and saw the bull pawing the ground. He shook his fist at the angry animal and said:

"If it were not for your bowing and scraping and apologies, you beast, I should think you'd pitched me over the fence on purpose!"

Prairie Province Home Makers Making Greater Use of Trees and Shrubby To Adorn Abodes

Of increasing interest are the steps taken by thousands of farm and town home makers in the Prairie Provinces of Canada to adorn the landscape around their abodes. The Dominion Experimental Station at Morden, Manitoba, where horticultural projects are the major feature, has paid considerable attention to landscape treatment.

Nature is a reliable guide. She gives many trees, shrubs, vines and herbs of charm, and in considerable variety. These are reliable, being aborigines, and are, therefore, hardy and adaptable. Some of them, such as willows and elms, thrive in low, damp places; others, such as junipers, silverberry, buffalo-berry and aspen poplar, do well in dry, exposed, sandy places, and most of them live and thrive on normal level prairie land, especially when sheltered. Tree growth is mostly in bluffs or small islands, and undergrowth in and about these tree patches tends to be attractive throughout the changing year.

The shrubs forming the accompaniment of poplar, willow, box elder, green ash, oak and elm areas, make a considerable list. Some have their greatest beauty in the spring when the bloom is on them; others are prominent in summer because of their foliage or bright fruit. Prairie roses, on account of their flowers and brilliantly coloured foliage, are much in favor; and a few, such as red dogwood, have a rich, colorful effect all through the winter.

Some discussion has taken place on the subject of lines or form. The general contour of the prairie is of horizontal and gently rounded lines. The horizon, the shrubbery, the poplar bluffs, and other natural phenomena, are mostly of this description. To attain and retain harmony, it is well to employ as much as possible material that carries out local requirements and motives. Some people bemoan the fact that Lombardy poplar, with its narrow, cylindrical pole-like contour, is not generally hardy. Its unadaptability, however, may be a blessing, as such figures on the flat, open plains are certainly foreign to the scene. On the other hand, trees with spreading, horizontal branches, such as many of the hawthorns, viburnums, native plum, sand cherry, red elder, rural willow, smooth sumach and common juniper, are of suitable prairie form. Shrubs with flat, umbel-like blooms, such as pin cherry, dogwood, some spiraea and mountain ash, are of merit in accentuating local contours and scenes.

Nature shows the more tender material in sheltered spots. Native plums, which would be badly wrecked by winds when heavily laden with fruit, are found in ravines, along the banks of streams, and in moist woods. A family of hackberry, probably developed from seeds brought by birds from 400 or 500 miles south, are doing well at Delta, Manitoba, and include some large and beautiful trees. It should be remembered, however, that this little colony grows in a favoured spot on the southern shore of Lake Manitoba. The sugar maple at Fort William is also found on sheltered hillsides.

The Morden Experimental Station has, since 1924, developed many pleasing views and attempted to retain a prairie style of landscape. The bluff or tree island idea is maintained, and an attempt made to have each patch distinctive from its neighbors. The absence of color, so evident on much of the prairie landscape from October until May, is overcome by planting on capes and bays of the tree islands material with bright colorful bark, and shrubs, such as Russian sand thorn, buffalo-berry, red cotoneaster, Siberian crab, red elder, sumach, mountain ash and roses, which support brightly colored fruits well on towards the spring. Evergreen conifers are used generously to supply greenery and to give life to their surroundings. The result is attractive and pleasing "winter gardens."

Shrubs are used in patches rather than as individuals. Willows with vivid bark are grown in coppice form, being cut back to stubs each May. This gives vigour of young growth which has the greatest intensity of twig color in winter. The ural willow so treated adds a purple touch and is distinctive. Herbaceous plants may be used to good effect in bays of shrubbery, and an excellent assortment of adapted perennials is available. The Siberian squill is in bloom in April and sequence is secured until late native New England asters finish blooming in October.

The history of the development of tree planting in the Prairie Provinces is interesting. In 1901, when settlers were making their appearance in considerable numbers, the Federal Government introduced its policy of tree planting. A nursery was started at Indian Head, in Saskatchewan, with the object of providing farmers with trees to plant around their homes. Soon afterwards the Canadian Pacific Railway started another nursery at Wolseley in the same province. Those in charge of the two nurseries then set out on the formidable task of teaching the settlers how to beautify the prairie landscape. Maple, ash, caragana, poplar and willow were grown at the nursery farms from seed, and an undertaking was given that all farmers making application would be supplied. At first the response was slow, only 20 farmers being supplied during the first year of the nurseries' existence.

As settlement increased, however, both the Government and the Canadian Pacific Railway began to realize the full possibilities of their enterprise, and the establishment of the nurseries was followed up by an active campaign of propaganda. Demonstration cars with lecturers were sent out to preach the benefits of tree planting. Thus the movement gained impetus.

A Matter Of Comparison

Exactng Positions Seems To Command Inadequate Salary

That the prime minister of Canada should be getting $10,000 a year less than the chairman of the Ontario Liquor Board, $60,000 a year less than the presidents of our railway companies, and about $40,000 less than the mayor of New York, is little less than absurd. And so with our minister of finance.

The finance minister of Canada holds, without exception, the most exacting and responsible position on this half of the North American continent. Yet for this post, a post where so far as brains and integrity are concerned, the sky should be the limit, we pay $12,000 a year. Pay less than is received by many subordinates in the direction of scores of our industries.—Ottawa Journal.

The Price Of Progress

Machine Age Has Brought Many Casualties In Industry

Many people will be aghast at the casualty list in industry. Nearly half a million persons were killed and injured in a year, and nearly $6,500,000 was paid in compensation in seven large industries. This is the price exacted by the machine in return for great advantages which it has brought. The comfort and variety of life for the average man and woman have enormously increased with the arrival of the machine age. In addition, every insurance company testifies that the machine which in some instances maims and kills actually prolongs life as a general rule. The average person lives "several years longer than his grandfather lived, and the "expectation of life" was never so high as today.—London Sunday Express.

Nihau, most remote of Hawaiian islands, boasts a population of 120. There are no radios, no automobiles, no dogs. Prohibition of liquor has been in force sixty years. Tobacco is likewise banned. There are no jails. Every resident is a church member.

"Ere George," cried a navy to his mate, as they passed a lecture hall, where an address on "The Era of Cleanliness" was announced. "Let us go in and hear what the bloke's got to say! I always thought it was an error myself."

Only three per cent. of all Norway is suitable to agriculture.

Putting Farm Work Horses In Condition

Progress in farm field work in the coming months depends largely on the condition of the work horses. Soft from the winter's rest, farm work horses require conditioning just as an athlete requires training for his best.

Every farmer knows that two or three weeks spent in a gradual toughening and conditioning of a horse for the heavy work is more than made up before the season of heavy field work is over. Not only does this conditioning include breaking them in to the long hours of hard pull that they must undergo, but applies as well to breaking them into a working ration.

It is poor practice to allow a horse to pasture on much new lushy grass if he is to go on a strenuous work schedule. A little grass is good for him, helps to condition him, but he must have oats, bran or old corn, or still better a combination of the three and good sound hay. These are the best possible rations in the spring and early summer. The horse that is fed a major ration of grass soon gets soft, sweats profusely, lags and quickly plays out. Oats, bran, corn and hay will give him stamina and leave him

Grading Helps Canadian Wools

Has Had Excellent Effect On Improving Annual Clippings

Canadian wools are now recognized both at home and in outside importing countries as possessing highly desirable qualities. Since wool grading became a general policy several years ago, buyers have learned to look to Canada for supplies of the various desired grades which they have learned to accept with confidence.

Hon. Dr. W. R. Motherwell, Minister of Agriculture, in his report for the past fiscal year states that a little less than three and one-half million pounds were graded that year, which was slightly more than in the previous twelve months.

Wool grading has had a very good effect on improving the annual wool clip and its preparation for market. The fleeces as they are now received at the storages are said to be well rolled and dried, and show a very small percentage of rejects or low grade wools. During the year reviewed by the Minister, western range wools were stronger of fibre and lighter of shrink than usual. Domestic wools when graded give excellent satisfaction to the Canadian and United States, and continental European buyers.

Finds It Good Business

California Oil Company Employs Elderly Men In Filling Stations

An oil company in California employs almost exclusively men above 60 to run its filling stations. The management is reported to consider the employment of older men good business and not philanthropy. It finds them "more courteous to customers, more careful in their care of the stations, with more pride in their work, and more reliable than younger men." This is a report of interest in a day when men past 50 find employment hard to get, and it may be a hint for other owners of filling stations—many of which are run by boys.

"John," said Mrs. Dumbbell, "I didn't know they had electric refrigeration in the banks."

"They don't; where did you get that crazy idea?" he demanded.

"Well, then, how do they get those frozen assets that banker was talking to you about?" she asked.

Additional air mail service was inaugurated between Winnipeg, Calgary, Edmonton, on March 3rd, 1930, by the Canadian Post Office Department. This leaves only the territory between the Rocky Mountains and the Pacific Coast, and from Western Ontario to Winnipeg, unserved by air mail. It is anticipated that at least a portion of the latter territory will be linked up during the coming summer, and the remaining portions will be covered as soon as the necessary survey and ground-work can be carried out. This will take some time as the equipment of flying fields and the installation of lighting arrangements must be done to the last degree of thoroughness. Air mail routes already in operation in Canada extend from Moncton, New Brunswick, to Windsor, Ontario.

During 1929, the spectacular and entirely successful inauguration was made of the world's Farthest North Air Mail Service, extending seventeen hundred miles from Fort McMurray, near Edmonton, Alberta, down the Athabasca and Mackenzie Rivers to Aklavik, more than three hundred miles beyond the Arctic Circle. The value of such service in remote areas can readily be imagined.

To the settlements along the North Shore of the Gulf of Saint Lawrence and on the Island of Anticosti and the Magdalen group, the mail 'planes have flown during the present winter with impressive regularity, once more demonstrating the especial value to Canada of this form of mail transportation.

The Canadian Air Mail service was started in December, 1927, with a total mileage of 367 and three scheduled trips per month. The mileage has since grown to nearly 6,000, and the monthly trips to over four hundred and thirty. The efficiency maintained is well over ninety per cent.

Few countries are better adapted to benefit by air mail services than Canada. Widely separated cities, scattered population, and distant mining areas difficult of access, are calling into existence more and more services of this nature.

Although the rapid development of the western provinces has been such as to make seem remote the pioneer days before the "laying of steel," actually it is only fifty years since mail transportation west of Winnipeg was of a very primitive nature, in keeping with other conditions in what was then a frontier territory.

In 1880 the mail service between Winnipeg and Edmonton was carried out about once in three weeks by horse or dog team. About twenty-one days were required for the trip in each direction. The service between Winnipeg and Calgary was carried out on a similar schedule. To those persons, and there are still many living, who can recall those early days of fifty years ago, the new air mail service is a revelation of Canada's progress. The new schedule calls for a nine hour service between Winnipeg and Calgary, and 5½ hours from Regina to Edmonton, this latter route connecting with the Winnipeg-Calgary one. Both of these new routes, totalling in all 1,126 miles, are lighted and are the first in Canada to be so equipped.

Savings in time of delivery over the present fast train service of from six to 42 hours, depending on the destination of the mails, are promised.

TOWN DEVELOPMENT

It used to be frequently said in the smaller towns, that it is the business of a good citizen to mind his own business, keep out of debt and avoid breaking the laws. It was commonly thought that if he did that, it was about all that could be expected of him, and he was conforming to the ideals of good citizenship.

But a community's development cannot be promoted in these times on any such limited basis. The fact that so many small town people still have this spirit, and expect to get along without doing anything particular to boost community movements, is one of the principal reasons why some towns do not get ahead faster.

Some must take hold and carry on the work of the churches and fraternal societies. Some of the men with a special head for business need to work in some organization for the commercial and other needed development of the community. Some need to work in clubs for educational purposes, and for more interesting social activities. There is something that each one should do and we must all take hold to do something in these public lines, if we expect that a town is going to keep up with the game.

People should not act as if they were making a great sacrifice if they devote a little of their time to such purposes. We should love our home town so much, we should be so ambitious to see it go ahead, we should be so conscious of the gains that people who have initiative or ability or industry, should be willing to give some time each week to helping forward such causes.

THE SCHOOL ACT

With Voluntary Provisions, Perrin Baker's Act May Become Workable

With concessions on both sides, it appears that Perrin Baker's School Act will be operative in districts that so desire it.

A school division operating under the new act might be created by a favorable vote, each division consisting of five subdivisions in which are such rural districts as the minister may design.

Each school district is entitled to send one delegate to the division and these delegates nominate a candidate to represent them as director.

The five directors elected constitute the district board. They are paid $5 per meeting, plus 10 cents mileage. They appoint all teachers, make necessary provision for secondary education, adopt a salary schedule and pay teachers' salaries direct. Provision is also made in a division for employing physicians, nurses, dentists. Funds are levied by the division from the municipal and improvement districts for school purposes.

This allows certain freedom of choice on the part of those opposed to the School Act, and may pave the way for its being tried out by groups that desire to do so.

WHAT IS THE WHEAT POOL?

It is an organization of farmers which is trying to do for the grain growers what every organization of bankers or manufacturers or skilled workers tries to do for the class it represents.

The Wheat Pool does nothing for the farmers—asks nothing for the farmers—that these organizations do not ask for their clients.

Yet the Canadian Wheat Pool has been under savage fire ever since it decided in the interests of the Canadian grain growers to delay the marketing of this season's crop.

The Canadian Wheat Pool is a co-operative selling organization, founded on sound economic principles, and it was brought into being for the purpose of obtaining the best possible price for the wheat growers by control of the output and by collective bargaining rather than depending on the haphazard methods of individual bartering which prevailed prior to the formation of the Pool.

If the leaders of the Wheat Pool thought it good business tactics to withhold their wheat until the market ceased to be "rigged" against them that was strictly their own business. They may turn out to be right or wrong. They are only human and they may err. Even the shrewdest financiers "guess wrong" at times.

WHAT OTHER EDITORS ARE SAYING

WHY MERCHANTS TURN GRAY

The following letter has been handed us by one of our town merchants, but we feel sure it is not a personal experience. Farmers in old Huron County aren't made of this sort of stuff. But if it ever happened anywhere, it's funny.

Dear Sir—I have your statement showing that I owe you $79.50. I am enclosing a cheque for $5.00, for which please send me a receipt. I am sorry that I cannot pay more at present as money is quite scarce right now. My living expenses are very high and I find it hard to get along. I will try and send you another payment of $5.00 when I sell my hay in July. I cannot pay you more at that time as my daughter finishes college this year and that costs a heap. I might add we have had to build a shed for the old Ford so as to put our new car in the garage. I have promised the missus a trip to Niagara in the fall. I feel this is coming to her as she has been working quite hard. We cannot go sooner on account of having the house remodelled some. Farmers around here are in a hard place financially with the price of gasoline as it is at present.

RED CROSS REPORT FOR 1929

The Annual Report for the past year is off the press, and provides much interesting matter for the friends of Red Cross and those who are interested in the welfare of children. Some striking thoughts are presented in the address of Col. Biggar, the National Commissioner, who emphasized the tremendous importance of Red Cross in stimulating a health consciousness and thus preventing diseases which were largely preventable. This must be reduced, and it is the special duty of Red Cross to teach the young through the Junior Red Cross, the value of being well, and remaining well, this being the aim and object of all health instruction.

The Juniors in Alberta number almost 38,000 members, and there are 1,460 schoolrooms flying the Red Cross flag. These Branches have raised the fine sum of $12,000 through membership fees and various efforts, all of which goes to support the sick and crippled children in the hospitals at Calgary and Edmonton.

The reports of the crippled cases assisted show that 189 children have been patients, a large number being long time orthopaedic cases, they represent 20 nationalities and come from 97 points within the province. Pouce Coupe Hospital has a splendid record of 234 admissions and 3,301 hospital days. An x-ray machine has been installed and great improvements made.

Immigrants' and settlers' work shows a vast follow-up of an intimate nature from placing prospective girl mothers in maternity homes and making social adjustments in time of trouble. Fires and emergencies have called forth the service of the emergency department of Red Cross.

CORRESPONDENCE

Dear Editor,

On reading a letter in last week's issue of the Pioneer, signed, "A-local farmer," we thought it only fair to present the other side of the question. It is said that every story has two sides and this is no exception to the rule.

The letter had a familiar ring and we suddenly remembered that some twenty years ago when a by-law was passed by the town council, closing the stores every night, except Saturday night, the same prolonged howl went up. It was more convenient to shop at night than in the day-time.

May we be permitted to correct an error, this half-holiday, this "foolish practice," is not for the benefit of the merchants at all, in fact, several of them would be delighted to have it abolished, because the merchant, just like the "local farmer," can take a holiday when he chooses. It is for the employees of Didsbury, those who work in stores and offices. We think it only humane that they should be able to see a little more of this famous Alberta sunshine.

At a moment when the money of all the people of Alberta is being used as security to assist the farmers with their Wheat Pool, we are surprised that those whom the "local farmer" represents, would not in their turn, be glad to co-operate in such a small matter as a weekly half-holiday.

He threatens also to do "outside buying." We have noticed that you never see him journeying to Calgary on a Wednesday, he remembers that it is a weekly half-holiday throughout the year.

It is unfortunate we admit, that Wednesday happens to be Hog Day, just the same, we believe that a few car-loads of hogs may depart without the entire population being on hand to bid them good-bye.

Bungalow Camping in Rockies

Spring is here, according to the calendar, though you may not otherwise have noticed it, and with the spring the thought of vacation begins to gather strength. In another month or six weeks the bungalow camps of the Rockies, famous the world over for their beauty, will have opened again for the season. Outstanding among them are the Lake O'Hara Bungalow camp (lower left), just behind Lake Louise; Yoho camp (lower right), under the roar of the Takakkaw Falls; and Emerald Lake chalet (upper), by many considered to be the gem of the Rockies, although artists and others will often contend that Lake O'Hara is a close rival. Stays at reasonable cost may be made in any or all three of these camps, since they are not very far from one another and are easily accessible. As a by no means minor part of the lure of these camps there is the attraction of trail riding on trained, sure-footed mountain cayuses over mountain passes through some of the most magnificent scenery in the world. Centre inset are the famous Twin Falls near the Yoho camp.

Canada Preparing To Receive Dirigible

Everything Will Be In Readiness When R-100 Arrives

The Canadian arrangements for receiving the R-100 will be in readiness when the big dirigible arrives, G. J. Desbarats, Deputy Minister of National Defence, stated. The mooring mast at St. Hubert, near Montreal, is completed, and work is going ahead on the other facilities. The huge supply of hydrogen which the ship will require, has to be provided, a plant for producing the gas and gasometers to hold it, have to be installed. Another important provision is a water supply, for the dirigible will take on great quantities. It will have to be pumped to the top of the 200-foot tower.

Lieut. Pressy, of the Canadian Navy, and several petty officers are at Cardington now receiving instruction in mooring operations. They will return to Canada early in April to train the ground men who will assist in mooring the R-100.

English Potato Growers Decide To Launch Publicity Campaign

As the result of a consultation with the Ministry of Agriculture, English potato growers have decided to launch a publicity campaign to popularize their products.

We are to be urged to "Eat more potatoes," just as we have been implored to consume vast quantities of fruit and to stay ourselves with flagons of milk. And why not? The potato is an admirable article of food and its largely increased consumption would be of immense benefit to British agriculture.

It is 400 years since Raleigh brought the potato and tobacco to England. But while our consumption of the latter—thanks to the huge advertising campaigns of the tobacco industry—has grown to an extent that Sir Walter could not have dimly imagined, the potato has been allowed to languish in obscurity. —London Daily Sketch.

Building Boom On Prairies

Over Hundred Million Spent In Provinces During Last Year

The tremendous development which is now under way in the prairie provinces of western Canada is indicated by the building figures for 1929, just made available. A total of $101,500,000 in contracts was awarded during the year in the provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, this being an increase of $37,468,300 over the 1928 figures.

The province of Manitoba led, with $38,156,500 in awarded contracts. Saskatchewan was next with $34,184,300, and Alberta third with $28,150,600.

Sixty-Year-Old Tragedy

Execution Of Thomas Scott By Riel "Government" Shocked All Canada

Blood glared red 60 years ago, March 4, in the frozen snow outside the gates of old Fort Garry, Winnipeg. A young prisoner—one Thomas Scott—lay dead as a firing squad of Louis Riel's "provisional government of Rupert's Land" stood with smoking rifles. A blot still unerased by time, had been etched into the record of a striking figure of the early west.

Six decades back, when Scott's execution shocked all Canada, Louis Riel was president of a government set up on its own authority. He headed a principality of land-holders, avowedly liege to Britain, who feared their property rights might be ignored when Manitoba joined Confederation in July, 1870. Riel's rule was a brief interregnum in '69 and '70 following domination of the Hudson's Bay Company and preceding the addition of Manitoba to the Dominion.

Killing of Scott brought down on Riel pronounced criticism from a large section of Canada's people. It robbed him, too, of consideration that might have won the young Metis leader a name as guardian of the west's first farmers. Instead, after eight months of defiance, Riel fled to the United States with a price of $5,000 on his head. Fifteen years later, at Regina, Sask., he was hanged for taking part in the Saskatchewan Rebellion, after returning from enforced exile.

Scott's body was never found. Request for the remains on the day following the execution was refused and a sham grave dug in the court yard of the fort; possibly the corpse was dropped into the Assiniboine or the Red River, whose confluence was a hundred feet away. Frightful stories that Scott did not die from the first fusillade and was thrown into a waiting coffin alive are discounted now. Rev. George Young, who attended Scott until his death, testified that he died from the gun volley. And Victor Magor, St. Boniface, Man., octogenarian, who reached the spot while the body still lay in the snow, states that Scott was dead.

Russia Declares New System Works Well

Non-Stop Working Week Has Been Generally Inaugurated

Sundays no longer exist in Soviet Russia as regular days of rest.

The seven-day "non-stop," working week, which allows one group of workers to rest one day in every five, while another group is carrying on their work, has been inaugurated in almost every institution, bureau, library, museum, school, factory, mine and retail shop, and will soon be introduced in theatres, newspapers and hospitals.

This system, which divides the 24 hours into three different working shifts, has enabled the government to attain something like "perpetual human motion." At no hour of the day or night, under the new seven-day working week, is any factory, shop or government enterprise, idle. At the same time, every worker has a full 24-hour rest period every five days.

According to the government, the new system of working hours has resulted in increased productivity, and has actually given the workers more repose and time for recreation than when only Sundays were observed as days of rest.

Fixing It Up

The minister called at the Jones' home one Sunday afternoon, and little Willie answered the bell.

"Pa ain't home," he announced. "He went over to the golf club."

The minister's brow darkened, and Willie hastened to explain:

"Oh, he ain't gonna play any golf. Not on Sunday. He just went over for a few highballs and a little poker."

Women In Switzerland Not Particular About Having Vote

The women of Switzerland cannot make up their minds as to whether they want "votes for women," or not. Eighteen months ago, they took a petition for suffrage in an imposing procession, to the Bundespalast, at Berne, and they assembled in the same city to found a "League Against Political Suffrage for Women." Their chief argument is that politics are detrimental to the harmony of family life and social intercourse. They hope to improve the position and lot of women by social reforms not connected with, or depending on politics.

Cause Of Asthma. No one can say with certainty exactly what causes the establishing of asthmatic conditions. Dust from the street, from flowers, from grain, and various other irritants may set up a trouble impossible to irradiate except through a sure preparation such as Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy. Uncertainty may exist as to cause, but there can be no uncertainty regarding a remedy which has freed a generation of asthmatic victims from this scourge of the bronchial tubes. It is sold everywhere.

Teach Aviation In Schools

School children in Prussia are to be initiated into the mysteries of aviation. The Prussian Minister of Education has ordered that classes dealing with aeronautic problems be added to the curriculum of all public schools. In schools with workshops, the pupils, in addition, are to be advised and assisted in the construction of models of all kinds of aircraft.

Jim, who had colored at the question, suddenly laughed and answered: "It doesn't wear well. You get tired of it after a while."

Grandma chuckled. "You going to take it to the strawberry festival this evening?"

Suddenly suspecting that he was being pumped, Jim replied with caution: "Maybe I will. I hadn't thought of it till now; but it would be a pity to leave the poor thing to go alone."

"She'd like your calling her a poor thing," said Grandma.

"I was talking about the hat," grinned Jim. "Honestly, Grandma, that hat has made more commotion in Wickfield than Lindbergh made when he landed in Paris. I'm sick of the sight of it."

"Well," commented the old lady, "you've come to your senses quicker'n

I expected. Does your mother know it?"

Jim's face clouded strangely. "Mother's—crazy about her," he admitted in a burst of confidence. "She says she makes the Wickfield girls look provincial. I guess Clara told her they looked that way. She'd never have thought of it herself. Now that's about all I hear—and everybody in it. Look here, Grandma, don't you tell any one I said that. It's only because Mother's got the idea that I'm a sort of Prince of Wales, that she talks that way. She says the best is none too good for me," he added, flushing hotly.

"And I'm not sure she isn't right, Jimmy," said Grandma, reaching out a wrinkled hand to touch his own. "You're a good son, boy; but your mother can't live your life for you, just the same. You tell her that, next time she says that home folks aren't good enough for any one. What do you think of the new doctor?"

"I don't think anything at all," Jim replied with irritation, and arose.

"Oh!" said Grandma, enlightened. "Well, he's all right, Jim, you can take my word for it. He keeps his room neat as any woman; and he doesn't eat out of house and home if he is a man."

"I don't see why in thunder you took him in, though. Charmian's got enough to do without getting meals for a perfect stranger."

His voice was gruff, and, as he looked from the window his shoulders held the same rigid position that Charmian had noticed earlier, and which told Grandma, as it told the girl, that he was inwardly disturbed.

"Look here," said the old lady quietly, "there's no use your getting all riled up. We took him in to help the doctor—Doctor Howe, I mean. There wasn't another place where the young man could board."

"What's the matter with Emmy Bascomb's? Emmy's glad enough to get a boarder when she can find one."

"Too far from town," said Grandma. "And besides, I guess maybe the doctor thought the extra money would come in handy for us. This is a big house to keep repaired; though don't you go repeating that at home or anywhere else," she added with a sudden touch of pride. "We Davises don't air our troubles."

"If the house is a trouble, why not sell it?" Jim suggested, seating himself again. "I bet you could get a big price from some city folks who want a summer home."

"Jimmy," said Grandma, her old eyes watching him narrowly, "when you say things like that I can understand—pretty near—why Charmian wasn't more upset when you took up with that Clara Darling. This house was built by my husband's grandfather. Charmian would no more sell it than she'd cut off her hair, like that Darling girl did the day she went to Portland."

"Well," sighed Jim, rising again, I guess I'll be going. Seems to me I say the wrong thing to every one this morning. I was only trying to help you out, Grandma, and a big house like this for just the two of you seems sort of foolish."

"I suppose it does, sonny, to those who don't understand," responded Grandma. "Thank you for dropping in, Jimmy. There hasn't been a soul here this morning; and except for those fighting boys the street's been silent as a tomb. If you go past the Merry's will you tell Mrs. Merry that her knitting needles came last night? That's a good boy. I've been watching for the R.F.D. man. He's terribly late it seems to me."

"If I meet him," grinned Jim, "I'll tell him to get a move on, that there's a lady down street who's watching for a love letter."

"All I'm watching for," corrected Grandma, "is Emmy Bascomb's recipe for shortcake. It's the best in town; and Charmian's promised to make one for the festival."

"That boy is just a mite on edge," she mused, as she watched Jim stride down the street. "It's time his mother learned to mind her own affairs, and let Jim mind his. It's plain he's tired of that silly girl; but maybe the best way to make him tireder is for Sarah Bennett to keep on throwing her in his face. Someways I wish Charmian would take him. He'd be a good provider, and a good provider is sort of comfortable to have around; though I wouldn't swap Father's poems for all the providing in Kingdom Come. Just the same, Jimmy Bennett is as fine a boy as ever breathed, and he'd do most anything Charmian was a mind to ask. He's jealous of the new doctor, but a little jealousy won't hurt him any in the long run. Maybe he'll appreciate her all the more for it. Provincial! If that isn't Sarah Bennett all over! Well, if ever she says anything like that to me I'll give her a piece of my mind. It's high time some one did!"

Grandma leaned back in her chair and closed her eyes; then started, and shook herself impatiently.

"Here I am taking cat naps like an old woman," she commented, straightening up and peering from the window. "I wonder if I missed anything? There's Parson Merry across the street. He's carrying Susy Oldham's card table. Seems as if come a sociable or a church fair, Mr. Merry does all the lifting. I wish he'd look up and wave. There! he sees me!" as the minister laid down the table and waved his hat. "He's a good man, the parson, if there are some who are always criticizing. A minister just can't please everybody; or his wife can't either. Sarah Bennett complained because Mrs. Merry wasn't stylisher at the convention at Portland—and next spring, when Mrs. Merry had the first new coat in years, Sarah said it was plain to see where the purse the parish gave the minister on Christmas went to! There's Jim again. He's overtaken Mr. Merry and is carrying the table. I'm glad of that. The parson's not so husky as he was once . . . and . . . I wonder . . . where that . . . R.F.D. . . . man . . . is . . ."

Grandma nodded. She was still nodding when the mail carrier drew up before the door.

CHAPTER VI.

It was late afternoon and Charmian's shortcake, a triumph of culinary art, was ready to be carried to the church. Though it was time to dress, the girl threw herself down on the four-posted bedstead in her big bedroom, and closed her eyes. Like all people who enjoy life intensely, Charmian had her moments of depression. Sometimes they came unexpectedly, as had this one. There was no real reason, she thought, opening her eyes and gazing at a long crack in the ceiling, why she should feel this way unless she had got too tired cleaning the doctor's office. She realized now that she'd been foolish to do so much when she had the shortcake to make and was going out to supper. Few and far between as were the social events in Wickfield, Charmian wished, achingly, that she need not go to this one.

A shaft of sunlight streamed in at the window, seeming to accentuate the shabby paint and wall paper, and this reminder of how many repairs the old house needed added to her discouragement.

"There are moments when I think Jim's right," she mused. "It is silly for Grandma and me to try to keep up a place that was intended for a big family. I'd almost rather sell the house than watch it go to rack and ruin. That thundershower showed up another leak in the back wall, and I've only just paid for having the last one fixed. Sometimes I wish—"

The town clock striking the hour interrupted these doleful reflections, and the girl arose, going to the bureau and slowly taking out her hairpins. Her soft, fair hair fell below her waist, but she regarded it critically as she lifted her brush.

"I wonder how I'd look with it bobbed," she pondered, the thought bringing a smile of amusement to her lips. "Grandma would have a fit; but there are days when I'm tempted to see what it would do to me. Provincial! Would Mrs. Bennett change her verdict if I appeared with shorn locks? Poor Grandma! That riled her frightfully. Jim ought to have known better than to tell her; but he was pretty well stirred up himself, poor laddie!—and enjoyed using Grandma as a safety valve. Well, I must hurry. I promised Mrs. Merry I'd set her man descended to the shop, she found table."

Twenty minutes later when Char-

John Carter entertaining Grandma.

"Seems to me you've been an awful long time getting dressed," commented the old lady. "Come nearer so I can see you. I always did like that organdie, dearie. The color's lovely; and it's got an air to it. Don't you think so, Doctor?"

"All the air in the world," he replied gallantly. "She looks airy enough to blow away. I hope she won't escape me before we reach the church. I should be scared to death to go in without her."

Effect Of Tree Planting

Shelter Belts On Prairies Make Vegetable Gardens Possible

The free distribution of forest trees to prairie farmers by the Forest Service, Department of the Interior, has had one marked effect in greatly increasing the number of vegetable gardens and orchards in the Prairie Provinces. Until recent years comparatively few farmers grew their own vegetables or small fruits. Inspections of the last few years have shown that the great majority of owners of shelter-belts now have vegetable gardens, many are growing small fruits, and an appreciable number are planting fruit trees.

THE RESPONSIBILITY OF A FOND MOTHER

Her child is a never-ending source of joy and a never-failing responsibility to the fond mother. Most childhood ailments arise from a derangement of the stomach or bowels. Baby's Own Tablets will immediately banish them by cleansing the bowels and sweetening the stomach. Thus they relieve colic, correct the digestion, banish constipation and make teething pains disappear.

Baby's Own Tablets are guaranteed as opiates and narcotics and need to be free from injurious drugs may be given to the newborn babe with perfect safety and beneficial results. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

"Be not hasty in thy spirit to be angry; for anger resteth in the bosom of fools."—Ecclesiastes vii. 9.

 As well-thatched roofs defy the rain,
 So passions crash and dash against
 The thoughtful mind in vain.

Like those who burn their houses and themselves within them, anger makes all things within full of confusion, smoke, and noise; so that the soul can neither see nor hear anything that might relieve it. Wherefore, sooner will an empty ship in a storm at sea admit of a governor from without, than a man, tossed with anger and rage, listen to the advice of another, unless he have his own reason first prepared to entertain it.

Don't be a martyr to unnecessary pain.

Lots of suffering is, indeed, quite needless.

Headaches, for example. They come without warning, but one can always be prepared. Aspirin tablets bring prompt relief. Keep a bottle of them at the office. Carry the small tin in your pocket. Then you won't have to hunt a drugstore, or wait till you get home.

And do not think that Aspirin is only good for headaches, sore throats, and colds! Read the proven directions for relieving neuralgic, neuritic, rheumatic, and other aches and pains. Remembering, of course, that the quick comfort from these tablets is not a cure; for any continued pain, see a doctor.

Purchase genuine Aspirin. Protect yourself by looking for that name. Always the same. Always safe. Never hurts the heart.

Rugby was quite a busy district last week. On April 1st, Miss Brubaker gave an April Fools' Party at Rugby School. Prizes were given for the funniest dresses and for the biggest fool and so forth. The Juniors then challenged the Rugby Greyhounds to a game of ball. The Greyhounds won the cup donated by Mrs. R. Budgeon for competition on this occasion and have declared themselves ready to play any other team who challenges their possession of this cup, before seeding commences. If the Juniors continue the way they have begun, the Greyhounds will have to look to their laurels next season. Following this, a small Auction Sale was held for the purpose of obtaining enough funds for the children to purchase a baseball outfit for the School. Percy Hosegood made an efficient auctioneer and sufficient money was raised for this purpose.

On Wednesday evening, Mrs. Hosegood entertained members of the Cheer up Club at a progressive whist party and a very pleasant evening was spent.

Rugby W.I. met at the school for the April meeting on Thursday afternoon. Thirteen members and two visitors were present. One new member joined our ranks. Mrs. J. Whitesides was elected delegate to the W.I. convention in Calgary next month. After the business session, the subject for the afternoon, "Canadian Industries," was taken up by Miss Brubaker, who handled the subject in her usual capable manner and illustrated her talk with a well-drawn map of the Province, showing the different places where Alberta's industries were carried on and where her many natural resources lay. The meeting adjourned with the singing of the national anthem and lunch was then served. The May meeting will be held at Mrs. H. Farrant's.

Gross earnings from operations increased $557,407 and net earnings from operations were $389,769 higher than for 1928, reflecting expenditures of more than $9,600,000 on extensions during the past two years.

The Canadian National Railway will spend $25,000,000 on new construction, maintenance and general betterment work in Western Canada this year, according to A. E. Warren, vice-president of the western region of the company.

Mr. Morrison of Eagle Hill has rounded-up his gang of carpenters, following a three months' recess, and has commenced with zest the building of the recreation hall which will adjoin the covered rink to the east.
